Here are the top 5 projects the project team was interested in (based on the results in the comments by participants):.. Currency prediction engine One of the projects that really interested a lot of teams was an engine of currency prediction. In the last year we have run into quite a lot of cases where bitcoin could be used to buy an illegal thing or a fake currency that needs to be validated in an online marketplace before it can be purchased online. It was also revealed that fake Bitcoin transactions could get converted into illegal money because of problems with the systems handling BTC transactions. The project was started by me and a couple.
