WELCOME TO THE USSC LAZARUS

The game takes place aboard the USSC Lazarus (Unified Space Ship Companies), a ship that belongs to KR Corporation (Kross-Rübel), a company dedicated to the interstellar transport of goods and with close ties to the mining industry. The player takes on the role of the protagonist, a veteran of the Venusian wars looking to carve out a new future for herself. She has enlisted to participate in a nine-year mission to work on a mining colony. When she wakes up from hypersleep she finds herself alone on the ship and with no memories.

The player must then explore, investigate and find a way to get off the ship before the situation gets worse. Along the way, the protagonist will experience a series of traumatic events related to his personal life: visions, dreamlike recollections, strange noises and apparitions that mess with his head and make her question what is real and what is not.

We have a script with a main plot and a linear emotive journey waiting for you, but this is just the beginning. If you go deep and investigate you'll see there is more beneath the surface. Once you've played the first scenes of the game you'll be able to wander the full ship, searching and exploring every single detail.

The mystery of what is happening is the basis of the Lazarus gameplay, although the player is the one who gathers all the clues and details scattered throughout the ship to reach the conclusion.

Sanctum is a great game, tough as nails, but good tough.

You lose, then you lose again, take some time to think about it, come back to the game and beat the little *%$£&!

I have been known for rage-quitting a lot of games, but never this one.

And whether you win or lose, that little dance at the end of each level really takes the edge off things.

Get all DLC too.. Fall of Gyes is a visual mess. In many scenes - particularly action scenes - you often can't tell who's saying what, or what is happening to whom. Some of the speech bubbles pop up in the wrong order. If you're looking for the kind of VN that offers choices, you won't find any here. Also, the whole 'novel' is shorter than this review.. Emma Hyundai's super kick is extremely crazy. Just bought the game and for the price it isn't worth it at all. Graphics are\u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665 gameplay is terrible, can't read the cards while playing. Game is broken as well, wouldn't recommend this game at even $1, so the $8.99 price tag is way over-priced.

If you want a card game with a story then don't bother with this game. Really disappointed and feels like I just flushed my money down the drain.

. What a blast! This is what VR was meant to be. Glad to see the devs are still actively engaged. Excited to see what else they come up with. Outstanding!. Great game!. Good ol' classics. One of the first games I've ever played on PC.

Scramble all fighters!. Best with 4 people but 2 works just fine. One of my favorites! Each choice creates a new weird situation which creates more choices leading to wacky events.

Deliver a demon baby at the hospital, only to see it show up at the Arena and challenge someone to a fight.

Toss a Potion out of the window into the town's water supply, and cause a horrible plague that overruns the hospital

Plant a magic bean you find, water it and watch it grow into the clouds before The Yawhg comes. Oh no. It's almost here..

Scary, fun and challenging! I love survival-horror and puzzle games, so I am really enjoying this one. It took me about 30 minutes to escape the first room. I look forward to the next room and its challenges. SPOILERS ahead!

Interesting platformer protest against big open world games: here you have a limited freedom of action, most of decisions are already taken for you. However - i love cats and i love cat games :). A powerful but cursed unit that requires some finesse to play as he can accidentally AOE all his team-mates to death if not used with care. Destructive mage caster class.. Enjoyed the game for what it was, however the translation is really bad.. It took me quite a while to like this game, purely because of the brutality. You need to go into this game with a more strategic attitude than something like COD or Battlefield. You'll spend a lot of time acting pretty stealthily. Even then, you will get killed a ton of times. Like I said previously, this game is brutal, but that also works the other way. You get such a fantastic buzz when you think you've seen someone in a bush in the distance, fire your gun, and land a kill; most of the time, 1 shot to the body will kill people. If you're somebody who loves running and gunning, it may take you a while to get used to this game, but once you do, it's great. I wholeheartedly recommend this game, especially as it's on sale at the moment.. Don't buy thses skins unless you're getting the season pass because they aren't worth 5 bucks and you can't use them until you have beat the main story.. no controller support. It tried giving the vibes of tower Unite (Gmod towers) give it time because it is still a f2p game. Love the art style, the music and the fast pace :)

still it's not done yet
